BOSTON, July 3. — A Hartford woman, who had been in New York for a week, was arrested yesterday for attempting to win an idol's heart in America and the first minute she stepped ashore in the city she was instantly killed with love. She was a Willard woman, and her Boston friends met at Albert's hotel to find when her Blackout man appeared. He had been in the city for a long time, and had been in the city for a long time.

It was low tide and the water was only a few feet deep.

With a few minutes' further search, many feet were found, and several of the men dugged the bodies out of the mud. It was not until they had looked at the bodies that they probably were instantaneous.

Both bodies were well preserved. A pair of Miss Quinby's shoes were broken and their soles with the laces missing. Whether they were in the mud, or the water for some time, or on a shelf, there was no sign that the blood was flowing. He then sustained a severe fall from the top of the building, he had sustained.

Cavalry Holds Crowd Back
A troop of state cavalry held the crowd back while Dr. George Sheen, the field surgeon with his staff and nurse made hasty examinations. The bodies were taken to the Guinness hospital.

BALLOTS 27 TO 34

"snow flies," said ex-Congressman L. F. Pierce, a champion of Champ Clark, from the District of Columbia. "We have not had enough votes to nominate now, but we have enough to prevent the nomination of anyone else. Whatever happens, we can hold more than the 365 necessary to prevent a nomination, and after the treatment awarded Mr. Clark in refusing him the honor, after he had received a majority, we shall stick to the death."

There was no band today, its contract having expired, and the band stand was occupied by a group of Baltimore belles.

A few minutes after 11 o'clock, Chairman James called the convention to order and Mr. S. Carroll, chief of the First M. E. church of Baltimore, offered prayer. A cheer swept the convention hall as W. J. Bryan entered and took his seat with the Nebraska delegation. The crowd of delegates, the cheering and the band were all in evidence.

HOW FOOD IS MADE.

The liquids and the digested foods in the alimentary canal pass through the wall of the canal into the blood. This process is called absorption and takes place chiefly from the small intestine. After absorption the blood carries the food through the body, and each cell takes from the blood the food it needs. A pure glyceric extract made from bloodroot, mandrake, stone, queen's root and golden seal and sold by druggists for the past forty years under the name of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, gives uniformly excellent results as a tonic to help in the assimilation of the food and in the absorption by the blood of the food it requires. Eradicate the poisons from the blood with this alternative extract which does not shrink the white blood corpuscles, because containing no alcohol or other injurious ingredients. Thus the body can be built up—strong to resist disease. This is a tonic taken from Nature's garden that builds up those weakened by disease.

Dr. Pierce, founder of the Invalids' Hotel at Buffalo, N. Y., has received many letters similar to the following:

MR. FRED R. MORRO, of Paradise, N. S., writes: "I take great pleasure in writing you as regards my case and its cure. In September I was taken with Typhoid Fever, which put me in a dreadful condition. I was weak, run down, nervous and had lost all my appetite. I had tried most everything I could get but nothing did me any good until, at last, I was advised to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Pellets, which I did. Before I had used one bottle I saw a great improvement and when I had used this treatment two months, using only a few vials of 'Pleasant Pellets,' I returned to perfect health. I cannot find words to express my thanks for this wonderful medicine. I advise all who are weak to write to Dr. E. V. Pierce, as he can be relied on to tell the truth."

This gave Clark a gain of 54. Wilson a loss of 1 and Underwood a loss of 12 as compared with the twenty-sixth ballot.

John B. Knox of Alabama introduced a resolution deploring the bitterness of the convention and calling for a united front in order to facilitate the work of the convention. It was referred to the resolutions committee without reading.

The twenty-eighth roll call went as follows: Indiana, before any material shift was made. Then the convention went wild as Senator Shively announced Kern's withdrawal. When Kern was withdrawn, a roll was taken. The Indiana vote had heretofore gone solid to Marshall.

No Reply to Stanchfield. After conferring with a number of friends, Mr. Bryan said it was unlikely that he would reply to the speech of Mr. Stanchfield. It was reported that Senator Rayner of Maryland might seek opportunity to defend the progressives. The New Mexico delegation demanded a poll after the vote had been reported. "Eight for Clark," the roll call showed. Clark 5, Wilson 3, and under the unit rule the eight went to Clark.

The result of the twenty-eighth ballot was: Clark, 468½; Wilson, 437½; Underwood, 112½; Harmon, 29; Foss, 38; Kern, 1; Bryan, 1; absent, 15. Marshall was eliminated, 29 of his 36 votes in Indiana going to Wilson. Clark lost 1½.

The twenty-ninth ballot was ordered called.

Indiana, on the twenty-ninth vote, gave Kern 4, Wilson 26. Thus Wilson lost 3.

A dispute in the Iowa delegation showed that the state stood, Clark 14½, Wilson 11½, but under the unit rule the entire vote of the state went to Clark.

Another wrangle followed when Kansas was called. The chairman of the delegation asked that the state be divided. Half a dozen delegates yelled: "We want to vote now. Two-thirds of this delegation are for Wilson and we want the vote cast that way."

The delegation was ordered polled. A chorus of yells and leers greeted the beginning of the poll and the roll call of the delegation proceeded in great disorder.

The result of the twenty-ninth ballot showed changes in the vote of only three states. It was: Clark, 468½; Wilson, 436; Underwood, 112; Foss, 38; Harmon, 29; Kern, 4. This gave Clark a loss of a half vote; Wilson a loss of 1½; Bryan lost his single vote and Kern gained 3.

The thirtieth ballot proceeded motionously until Ohio was reached. Then 10 of Harmon's 29 went to Underwood. Wilson's 19 remained intact. Vermont gave up Foss on this ballot and her eight votes went to Wilson. The result of the vote put Wilson in the lead.

Iowa Vote Split. The vote of Iowa which had been passed gave Wilson 14; Clark 12. Up to that time the entire vote of 26 had gone to Clark. When the vote was announced a roll call of the delegation was demanded and again showed Clark, 12; Wilson, 14. Iowa's vote as announced gave Wilson the lead for the ballot with 469 votes. It gave Clark 45. Cheers greeted each Wilson vote as it was announced during the roll call.

The result of the ballot was Clark.

455; Wilson, 460; Underwood, 121½; Foss, 30; Harmon, 19; Kern, 2.

Thus Clark lost 13½ and Wilson gained 24. Underwood gained 9½. When the total vote of the thirtieth ballot was announced, the Wilson followers, with their candidate for the first time in the lead made a demonstration.

The thirty-first ballot gave Wilson trifling gains early in the roll.

Wyoming announced that its delegates having determined that Clark's nomination was no longer a possibility shifted to Wilson, a gain of six for the New Jersey governor.

Wilson held and improved his lead on the thirty-first ballot. The result was: Clark, 446½; Wilson, 474½; Underwood, 116½; Foss, 30; Harmon, 17; Kern, 2; absent, 14. This gave Wilson a gain of 15½; Clark lost 8½; Underwood lost five and Harmon lost two.

At the end of the thirty-first ballot the Michigan Delegates, supporting Clark, sent to Senator Reed of Missouri for instructions.

"Still still in the West," counseled the senator. "The Wilson forces can't get two-thirds to save their lives."

The thirty-second ballot proceeded with practically no change. The result was: Clark, 446½; Wilson, 474½; Underwood, 119; Foss, 28; Harmon, 14; absent, 15. Wilson gained two; Underwood gained three.

There was little change on the thirty-third ballot. The result was: Clark, 472½; Wilson, 474½; Underwood, 103½; Foss, 28; Harmon, 20; Kern, 2; absent, 12. This gave Clark a gain of one, while Wilson's vote was unchanged. Harmon gained 15.

Bryan Resents Byplay. The thirty-third ballot found the leaders practically at a standstill. Wilson merely holding his total of the thirty-second, while Clark gained one from Underwood in Virginia.

At the end of this ballot the Champ Clark people revived their drooping spirits by displaying a big banner on which the following tribute to Clark from W. J. Bryan in 1910 was printed in red:

"I've known Champ Clark 18 years. He is absolutely incorruptible, and his

ROAD HOUSES IN OREGON MUST GO

Governor West, in Personal Command Soldiers, Closes Up Two Places

PORTLAND, Ore., July 1. Gov. Oswald West personally closed the Milwaukee tavern, a road house, today and placed the hostelry under martial law. He was accompanied by Adjutant General W. E. Finzer and with 50 officers and men, all armed with rifles, revolvers and axes.

The governor for the proprietor that the soldiers would remain encamped outside the grounds, until certain changes were made in the establishment.

Governor West's action was in compliance with the recent announcement that he intended to suppress the road house evil.

Governor West also closed up Cliff Inn, another road house, late today. No soldiers were utilized, the governor simply jacking up his proclamation.

Two murders and several attempted holdups within a few months have marked the growing custom of late-at-night automobile trips to road houses and there has been considerable hushed up scandal besides.

life is above reproach. Never in all these years have I known him to be upon but one side of the question and that was the side represented by the people."

There was a cheer as the Missourians displayed the banner above the delegation. It continued for several minutes.

"Take it over to Nebraska and show it to Bryan," shouted someone.

No sooner was this said than the Missourians acted on the suggestion. Then came trouble. Bryan arose and faced his tormentors, and a moment later, smiling, he hurried to his side and with them as an escort the Nebraskaan fairly fought his way to the stage.

"Is the Missouri delegation responsible for sending that banner to the Nebraska delegation?" he asked.

In the uproar following, Bryan stood smiling in the center of a shrieking, excited mob of the Missouri delegation. Half a dozen policemen charged into the crowd.

"Anything against Bryan," shouted a Missouri delegate, shaking his fist at the smiling Nebraskaan. From the aisle the policeman helped the Nebraskaan up onto the platform. Half a dozen hand-to-hand fights followed as the Clark men tried to carry their banner up on the platform.

A score of policemen fought in vain to quiet the shrieking, fighting mob. Chairman James hurried in and took the gavel from John E. Lamb of Indiana.

After five minutes of effort James, aided by the police, secured semblance of order. Mr. James finally announced the beginning of the thirty-fourth ballot, and Alabama had cast her votes when Bryan, who had stood for several moments with the stolidness of an Indian, was recognized.

Police Are Called On.

"Go on and vote," called a delegate. "Stop him, we want to go home—we don't want a speech." He said to stop here, we're not.

James explained that Mr. Bryan had arisen to a question of personal privilege. Mr. Bryan then said:

"I was seated in my delegation when a banner was placed in front of us. I asked those in charge of it to remove it. They refused. I went to the Missouri delegation and asked the chairman whether it had been sent there by the Missouri delegation. If that act was unauthorized by the persons in charge of that banner, I have nothing to say, but if that was done by the order of the Missouri delegation, I claim the right to answer the question thus propounded."

Howling interrupted him.

"The chair regrets to rule that the gentleman from Nebraska has not stated a question of personal privilege. A cheer greeted this and Mr. Bryan bowed and left the stand. As he passed the Missouri delegation, former Gov. A. M. Dockery stopped him and disclaimed, for the delegation, any connection with the appearance of the banner. Mr. Bryan went back to his seat.

The convention was in a turmoil long after Bryan had taken his seat. There were several fistfights. Among delegates and the big force of policemen had their hands full quelling the outbreaks, but a new squad of police came in during the disturbance and when the balloting was renewed every aisle on the floor was lined with bluecoats.

Chairman James directed the police to arrest anyone attempting to carry a banner of any sort into the armory.

Recess at 5:15 P. M.

When Maine was reached, on the thirty-fourth call, its vote of 12 was cast solid for Wilson. It took two from Underwood, and showed a gain of two for Wilson. Clark remained unchanged. Underwood lost two.

At the end of the thirty-fourth ballot, Roger C. Sullivan of Illinois moved that the convention take a recess until 8 o'clock tonight. The motion prevailed by acclamation, and at 5:15 p. m. the convention recessed.

Clark Loses Some in Tennessee. In Tennessee Clark lost three and one-half. The delegation gave Clark, Wilson and Underwood, eight votes each.

On the thirty-eighth ballot Clark lost seven and one-half; Wilson gained two and Underwood gained five and one-half.

As the night wore on the temper of the delegates grew worse. Every shifting vote, every demand for the poll of a delegation, evoked a bitterness. Hisses, half-hearted cheers and leers greeted the few changes. This spirit was also shown at times in the audience, and the police were forced to remove offenders who became involved in quarrels. In the thirty-ninth ballot the first break came in Colorado. Wilson was given one of the 12 Clark votes of the state. While the Colorado delegates were instructed to vote for Clark until released by him. Chairman James held that there was no unit rule involved, and that the delegates were responsible only to their people. The single vote was counted for Wilson. Before the thirty-ninth ballot the Illinois delegation had a caucus on a proposed split to Wilson. It was decided not to allow a break yet.

Iowa gave Wilson two more Clark votes.

Wilson Demonstration Fails Flat.

The Wilson people started a demonstration, but the response was unenthusiastic. On the thirty-ninth ballot, Clark had only 57 more than necessary to prevent a nomination.

This ballot pulled Wilson 13 votes above the 500 mark and his adherents on the floor cheered mightily. Clark lost three to Wilson. On the fortieth ballot Clark regained one Iowa vote. In Ohio, Wilson gained one Harmon vote. On this ballot Clark gained one and Harmon lost one.

Before Chairman James could order the forty-first roll call, an Alabama delegate yelled:

"I move that this convention adjourn until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. A. Mitchell Palmer of the Wilson forces demanded a roll call, but the motion was withdrawn and the forty-first roll call began."

The ballot showed a loss of two for Wilson and a gain of one for Clark.

Another attempt was made to adjourn, this time until 11 o'clock tomorrow. By the time Maryland was reached on the motion to adjourn, a big vote had been recorded against it and it was withdrawn.

Then in great disorder the forty-second roll call was begun.

As the forty-second ballot proceeded the disorder grew, until J. Hamilton Lewis of Chicago, who was in the chair, had trouble enforcing quiet.

Another Michigan Switch.

When Michigan was reached, the Clark cohorts cheered for the speaker gained six votes at the expense of Wilson.

On the forty-second ballot Clark gained six and Wilson lost 5½. Underwood lost two.

When the result of this ballot was announced, Delegate Wallace of Washington secured the floor and moved to adjourn until Tuesday noon. In the midst of disorder Senator Stone of Missouri seconded the motion and A. Mitchell Palmer demanded a roll call.

The roll call had scarcely begun before the weary delegates, seeing that the motion was certain to prevail, began to crowd from their seats and out of the hall.

At 12:43 a. m. the convention adjourned until noon Tuesday.

Fugitives Fall Off

House Top in Effort to Escape the Police

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 1.—At the end of a perilous flight tonight, over a block of houses, with police in pursuit, Alva and Cordell Bishop, blood flowing from numerous cuts received in a fight, toppled over a raised metal cornice and pitched headlong toward the pavement, two stories below.

Goold fell to the street, while Alva struck a trolley wire in his descent and was snapped across the narrow street and upon the roof of a one-story building.

Carter Berry, their antagonist, who was well-nigh vanquished when the police entered his back yard, where the fight was in progress, is covered with knife wounds. All are in the city hospital, and living, though recovery is scarcely possible.

The police chase over the housetops, pursued and pursued, sometimes taking intervening spaces of 10 feet without pause, was witnessed by hundreds.

"The Lily," New Burns This Week, Is Worth Seeing

Every mature-minded woman in Colorado Springs should witness the performance of "The Lily" at the Burns, theater this week and this applies equally to the mature-minded of the younger sex.

It is a wholesome relief at times to get away from the flippant and the Bohemian play provides a way for the course of sparkling dialogue, clever epigrams and good moralizing. An adaptation from the French, one naturally expects to be shocked but this production gives way to the strength of a story which tells something worth telling, and it is therefore pardonable in a criticism to say it may be said there is real, genuine enjoyment in "The Lily" for those who are best with the ability to think in a charitable way.

It is no longer necessary to say of the theater that in staging and production, "The Lily" will compare favorably with the higher-priced revealing attractions, and a master hand in stagecraft is evident throughout the performance. This credit belongs to Frances Kendall, whose years with Frohman seems to have been put to good end.

Distinctly superior was the work of Alfred Cross in the role of "Count de Maigne," whose conception of the thoughtlessly selfish father was artistic in most minute detail.

Malcolm Duncan, as the artist, while not enjoying the scope provided him in "The Fortune Hunter," will not suffer in comparison with his accomplishment of last week, and will do his full share in bringing to the stage from many a pair of fair eyes this week.

"Christina" is a delicately dramatic character, and as given by Justina Wayne, a trifle too melodramatic, nevertheless, it was ably handled, and she was heartily encouraged by the audience.

Also Well Cast.

The "Nana" (Nana) role of "Nana" was handled by Florence Hart, and while not over-vigorous in its enactment, as a whole, she did splendidly with it. Miss Hart is deliberate in her work, yet there is a sense of a performance of "Nana" of last week.

Edith Gardner was most legitimate as "Hazel," lawyer and family advisor, and is a finished actor of the modern school.

Andra Allen, as the American girl seeking a duke, was so convincing, and the audience could wish her only success in the face of certain defeat.

Annie Ford, Richard Carlin, William Rainsford, Eugene Duffell, and Lloyd Mitchell, were all happily cast, and aided in making "The Lily" a performance which is certain to bring out large audiences for this week.

"The Lily," in brief, is the story of an aspiring, self-centered and arrogant French nobleman, who, feeds his alleged soul upon ancestral pride and property, and when he himself is a victim of a blood-making vendetta, loses him to Paris as a victim of the "great they don't know" won't hurt them philosophy, always expecting his offspring, whom he looks upon as mere adjuncts to his comfort and well-being, to be immune from the hankering of soul and body for the things that make life.

His eldest daughter, Christine, has made a life of her own, and has made her grow old in his service, playing the noddykeeper, life-long sister, and mother in the end, to all appearance, sitting like a statue on a monument, smiling at grief, but inside a seething, racing spirit of rebellion.

The son has made a tremendous bargain and sold himself and title to a gingham, gaudy, idiotic American heiress, for, oh, say, a few millions, and all is well until, presto, it comes about that the younger sister, Christine, is neither to be sold or sacrificed upon the altar of parental selfishness or ancestral pride, but has grasped her

Slowness of Federals to Attack Puzzles the Mexican Insurrectos

AT THE REBEL FRONT, BACHIMA, BA, Mexico, July 1.—Up to tonight, the federal columns, under General Huerta, had been sighted only a few miles south of here, but had failed to attack the rebel positions. No further details had been received tonight concerning the big explosion in the federal lines, thought to have been the wrecking of a government troop train by rebel mines.

A big movement in the federal ranks was perceptible from here all day, but the advance guard did not approach close enough for artillery range. The rebels have moved all their troops training to a point three miles north of the entrance to Bachimba mountain base. The troops have taken positions to the east and west of the pass and have placed their artillery at vantage points.

During the last 24 hours less than eight miles have separated the contending armies, and the rebel chiefs are at a loss to understand the failure of the government to attack, though it is assumed that General Huerta is waiting for the federal flank detachments to reach around the mountain pass.

Texas Militia May Be Called Out.

EL PASO, Tex., July 1.—With the movement of federal forces from the state of Sonora toward Juarez, and the American boundary line, the state of Texas has ordered the chiefs of its military establishment here to await developments on the Mexican side and report on whether the state militia be required to assist in the border patrol. Capt. F. A. Logan of the Texas militia, battery of artillery, studied range locations here today. It is believed not improbable that Governor Colquhoun will order a regiment of state infantry and cavalry, as well as artillery, here, if it appears that there will be fighting in Juarez. There is also talk that the militia of New Mexico and Arizona would be stationed along their international boundary line to assist the federal troops.

Texas to Act Without Delay.

Many reports have been current that the state of Texas would not allow El Paso citizens to be fired upon through a battle at Juarez, as occurred a year ago, and that it would not await the action of the Washington government in retaliation or protection of endangered interests. The activity of the Texas military forces has given apparent confirmation to these reports, though Col. W. Z. Steever, in command of the entire body of federal troops here, believes no contingency for friction between the state and federal authorities will arise.

Wealthy Mexican Buys Release.

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico, July 1.—Juan Terrazas, Jr., the wealthiest man in northern Mexico, finally obtained his release from active service at the rebel front at Bachimba, today, returning here tonight, after paying a ransom of $25,000 gold and contributing $5,000 gold for back taxes.

Terrazas had been ordered to the firing line by General Orozco, and though the British and German consuls interceded for him, the rebel chief would not yield until a big sum of money was forthcoming. Terrazas has been obliged to contribute liberally to the revolutionary cause, heretofore, much of his cattle having been confiscated.

upset the monoplane. In the excitement of the moment no one noticed the lone aviator, but when Miss Quimby's body was brought ashore all eyes were directed aloft, and Miss Scott was seen making sweeping circles over the field at a height of about 500 feet. Twice she started to descend, but each time she was seen to falter. In another moment, abandoning all for motive, she turned the nose of her machine downward and landed safely, collapsing in her seat, before anyone could reach her.

A. Lee Stevens of New York, manager for Miss Quimby, and Miss Quimby's friend, Mrs. Helen Vanderbilt, who were both witnesses of the accident, were prostrated.

Hope to Break Altitude Record.

Before going up on their last flight Miss Quimby and Mr. Willard were talking and laughing with friends.

In crossing the English channel on April 16, Miss Quimby flew at an altitude of 6,000 feet, which was believed to be the record for women. Miss Quimby today said she felt sure she could equal the record of 13,945 feet set by Garros.

Miss Quimby said to a friend just before she left the ground: "A water landing is all right in a harbor until you come down head-first."

Then with a bright smile, she made this significant remark: "But I am a cat and don't like cold water."

The monoplane, painted a pure white, started at great speed over the harbor. The motors developed a speed at times of from 75 to 100 miles an hour. An examination of the "Aviator" biplane after the flight showed that at times the daring pilot had darted to a height of 5,000 feet.

THE DANGEROUS HOUSE FLY

EITHER because of the "Swat the Fly" agitation which has been carried on more vigorously this summer than ever before, or because of the lateness of the season, the fly nuisance appears to be less serious this year than usual. Nevertheless, more of the deadly pests are here than anybody wants, and now that midsummer has come it is too late to solve the problem merely by using a swatter. It is easy enough in the early spring when flies are scarce to rid a house of them by killing the few that get in, but when the season is well advanced more vigorous efforts are necessary. Scrupulous cleanliness about the premises, especially in the kitchen and stable; careful screening of every door and window, and the use of good fly traps, are the only measures likely to prove effective.

Since the beginning of the present nation-wide crusade against flies two or three years ago the public has learned for the first time the real character of the evil. Flies used to be regarded merely as troublesome but harmless. Discriminating people thought them disgusting, but nobody realized that they were actually the most dangerous transmitters of several deadly diseases, and therefore a menace to human life.

But recent scientific investigation has proved beyond question that the common house fly is responsible for more typhoid fever and other communicable diseases, especially those most prevalent in summer than any other agents. This is because the fly breeds in and lays upon the kind of filth in which disease germs most abound, and because its habits make the wide distribution of such germs inevitable. Its feet are covered with minute hairs to which everything over which it crawls sticks readily, and since the fly buzzes from the garbage can or the stable to the food in the kitchen and back again it is easy to see the danger that lurks in its visits.

FACTS about the fly which ought to ABOUT stir the householders to THE FLY activity:

Accepting the conservative statement that one fly lays 120 eggs at a time, and that this breed of new flies produces another brood in three weeks, that fly might have 5,184,000,000,000,000 descendants from one batch of eggs alone. But the fly will lay many score batches of 120 eggs at a time during the season, and the total must be multiplied by those scores.

If all the flies in the world, bred unchecked for a summer, they would exceed the world in bulk.

The fly is responsible for spreading typhoid fever, tuberculosis, cholera, summer diarrhoea, summer dysentery, cholera morbus, infantile paralysis and many other diseases.

Experiments by the Agricultural Experiment Station at Storrs, Conn., show that one fly carries 6,600,000 bacteria at once.

A total of 170,000,000 flies are lost every generation through diseases spread by the fly.

In the Spanish-American war the Spanish killed 235 of our soldiers, but flies were responsible for 2,192 deaths through typhoid fever.

A local ordinance now requires that all stable refuse be kept in concrete bins with tight-fitting covers, and the strict enforcement of this measure will do more to abate the fly nuisance than anything else. Probably nine-tenths of the flies are hatched in stables or in garbage cans, mostly in the former, and since the insects increase at a prodigious rate it is plain that no real progress can be made unless the utmost care is taken to keep such places clean. The next important step is to see that windows and doors are tightly screened.

If these precautions are observed it is comparatively easy to rid the house of the few flies that manage to get in, either by using a swatter or a trap, or by burning pyrethrum powder in a closed room. It is true that all of these precautions involve the expenditure of a good deal of time and trouble and some expense, but the protection of health and the added comfort are more than worth the cost.

FOURTH-OF-JULY TETANUS

In 1903 there were 415 cases of tetanus, or lock-jaw, in the United States as the result of Fourth-of-July injuries. In 1911 there were only 18, and of these, 10, of 55 per cent, terminated fatally, as compared with 93 per cent in 1910, 84 per cent in 1909 and 72 per cent in 1908. Thus it is apparent that the agitation for a safe and sane Fourth has produced beneficial results, but it is also plain that there is room for further improvement. Commenting on this subject The Journal of the American Medical Association says:

Tetanus, and particularly deaths as the result of tetanus, are almost entirely avoidable. Not only the layman, but also the physician, should be impressed with the fact that a death from tetanus should practically never occur. The loss of life from this disease must be ascribed entirely to the neglect of the patient or his parents to seek medical advice early enough after the injury. The experience of years proves conclusively that tetanus antitoxin is most valuable, but antitoxin should not be placed on it to the neglect of other treatment. Antitoxin is not a substitute for surgical care and treatment, it is an aid thereto. Initial results may occur because antitoxin is injected too late or because the local infection is not given the necessary attention. The antitoxin should be used at the earliest possible opportunity, in sufficiently large doses. The injections may be repeated often and the dosage increased without doing harm to the patient.

The most essential curative measure is the proper treatment of the wound. The tetanus bacillus dies on exposure to air, and it is most important that every part of the wound be exposed freely to the air. The presence of even an infinitesimal quantity of oxygen stops the activities; therefore, a sufficient supply of oxygen will prevent its growth and the production of its poisons.

The incision under general or local anesthesia exposes the wound sufficiently to the air. Thorough removal of every particle of foreign material from the wound and the application of a light dressing to prevent infection by pus organisms, with the other measures suggested, are sufficient treatment.

The most sensible course for the parent is to make sure that his child does not handle dangerous explosives, for an ounce of prevention is worth several pounds of cure. But this is not always possible, so the next best thing is to be prepared to administer first aid intelligently and without delay. A wound caused by an explosion, in which the flesh is torn or cut deep never should be permitted to heal until it has been examined by a physician, for, as above stated, the lock-jaw bacillus dies on exposure to air, and the disease can be produced only as a result of closing the wound into which the bacillus has been introduced.

Perhaps some day somebody will devise a really satisfactory way to celebrate the Fourth of July, one which will afford the desired amusement for the youngster with freedom from danger. Until then it is well for parents to make every effort to safeguard their children and know just what to do when the inevitable happens.

THE VICIOUS CIRCLE

From the Kansas City Star.
In his speech in Orchestra hall Theodore Roosevelt pointed out to those Republicans who still cling to the hope of better things for their party organization, the impossible situation as the organization is now constituted.

The old national committee is perpetuated in the new. The old committee made up a fraudulent temporary roll; the fraudulent temporary roll appointed a fraudulent credentials committee; the fraudulent credentials committee seated the fraudulent delegates, who, in turn, elected another fraudulent national committee, and that committee is not only given the power to commit four years hence, the same fraud that was perpetrated this year, but is given the power to insert the Committee men honest electors as delegates this year.

"They seem to forget," said Colonel Roosevelt, "that the vicious circle has been completed."

The new party of the people—the Progressive party—will break that vicious circle.

THE DOOR PLATE HAS GONE—THAT'S ALL

From the Chicago Tribune.
The committee of notification has been appointed. Let it inform William Howard Taft that states which will not give him a single electoral vote and colonial possessions of the United States which have no vote have "put him over." States that have given nothing to the Republican party have given its name to him.

William Howard Taft—the choice of Alabama and Georgia; of South Carolina and Florida, and of Tennessee; of Louisiana and Mississippi, of Virginia and Arkansas; of Porto Rico and the Philippines; of Hawaii and Alaska—the choice of states which never cast an electoral vote for a Republican president, the choice of territories and colonies which are not allowed to vote.

Let the southern states, which have delivered the Republican party to its enemies, lift up their gates and rejoice.

The Republican party in the south will be picking cotton next year. The Republican party in the south is leaving the pleasant fields of federal employment and is going back to manual labor, which will be a gain to the south. The Republican party in the south will have more callouses on its hands next year than it has been honored with for many years. Let this be its reward—the reward of its shrewdness and its honesty, the reward of its responsiveness to the will of the real Republican party.

Let this be its reward. It surely will find it. The victory is almost one. Why do the Republicans of Illinois and Pennsylvania; of Kansas and California; of Wisconsin and Maine, of the northwest, of the west, of the Mississippi valley and the east, of every state whose electoral votes elect Republican presidents, sit so silently, with clenched fists and dry, tight lips. Why don't they cheer? Surely it is a famous victory. Examine it. Observe it. A famous victory, surely.

Delegates stolen from states which had declared for Roosevelt, delegates from states which never cast a vote for a Republican president, delegates from territories and colonies which cannot vote—they made it a victory. They took the name "Republican" and gave it to a man Republicans had repudiated.

William Howard Taft is a candidate, BUT NOT THE CANDIDATE OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

Give him the label. He can get nothing else. It was beyond the power of the misrepresentative convention to give him anything else. Give him and name and let him go. Door plates can be stolen, but the house cannot be moved.

McKinley and Penrose, Barnes and Guggenheim, Rosewater and Mulvaney, Crane and Smoot, etc., etc., have run off with the door plate, but they have not even a key to the house.

In the house counts Republicanism still abides. It possesses the house, and the house is in better order than it has been for many years.

The door plate is gone, that is all. Have the plate on William Howard Taft, but the door is barred and bolted against him.

NOW SLEEPING IN HIS SYLVIA.

From the Marion (Mich.) Dispatch.
Last—My night shirt from our clothes line into the flood, finger pulse return and receive my heart-felt thanks.—Geo. Lowry.

A PLAIN CASE OF "OUT OF MEAT."

From the Toronto (Kan.) Republican.
Unsolicted by "my friends," without any strings attached to me, after mature deliberation, and of my own volition, because I want and need the office, I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the nomination and election to the office of county attorney, subject to the will of the Republican voters at the primary in August.—L. H. Johnson.

Centershots

A smart wolf may address an audience composed of two hundred sheep and ten or dozen wolves, and receive tremendous applause for wolf arguments.

If you hit a man, that's abuse; if you talk mean about him, that's criticism.

A fact once established lasts a long time. Everyone knows a crow isn't as good to eat as a quail; yet I doubt that any man now living ever tried to eat a crow.

When a woman goes to a theater, she says on the way home, even if she liked the show: "Did you notice how bold those actresses were?"

The truth is as certain to prevail as the sun is to rise, so set your alarm clock accordingly.

The less a man amounts to in real life, the bigger his theories are, and the more firmly he believes in them.

There is no waste of time worse than playing cards, unless you play for stakes; and if a dishonest gambler sets in the game, you are apt to waste money as well as time.

The Talkative Wife

By RUTH CAMERON.

She is growing daily more common, I think. Indeed, I somehow can't imagine her existing at all in grandmother's and Aunt Tabitha's day, and must believe her entirely a growth of the last two generations.

Perhaps I'm wrong, but that is certainly my feeling.

And she—as you are probably quite ready to know by this time—is the young married woman who talks about her ultra-private matrimonial affairs; who tells her sister, or her best friend, or her cousin, or even her next-door neighbor, things about her most intimate family life, which should have been kept absolutely sacred.

That a young married woman should confide "everything" to her mother has always seemed doubtful tactics to me.

That she should open her whole heart to any less trustworthy and intimate confidante than this mother who is bound to her by a tie second only to that which makes "two of a flesh," seems to me the very height of folly.

And yet, how many women nowadays do make just this mistake!

And not only coarse and uneducated women, either.

I recall especially just now the case of a young professor's wife at college who made an intimate friend of one of the students and confided many things to her that she would have thought she would at least have known enough to keep for married ears. The intimate friend "leaked" and soon half the college was in possession of the young professor's wife's silly confidences.

She was a woman whom we had been inclined to admire very much at first, but I assure you that after this incident she suffered a decided loss of prestige.

While I am on this subject there is a very similar folly which I should like to say a word against, and that is the decidedly indecorous way in which two intimate married couples will sometimes talk and act in each other's presence.

For four young married folks to find pleasure in each other's company is a very good thing. It often relieves the too continuous strain of telephoning.

But for any couple to become so intimate with another as to throw down the barriers and talk and act as they would if alone is decidedly bad.

It does not blot out the wrong that both husband and wife are party to it, nor make their conduct any less immodest and indecorous.

It is natural that the young married woman, carried away as she is with her new viewpoint on life, should be in an expansive and communicative mood.

But if she wants to be sure of having nothing to regret in after life, let her keep constantly in mind the saying of the old Greek philosopher: "I have often repeated my speech; never my secrets."

PARTY REGULARITY

A piece of political hypocrisy. The two-thirds rule blocks the path of the machine, but it is also an obstacle to progress, and makes it certain that no candidate can be nominated who is not acceptable to any faction that is able to control one-third of the delegates. Through the week the conviction has deepened in Denver that relief from the political evils so prominently manifested at Chicago cannot be gained from a convention that can act only by unanimity of Murphy, Laggart and Sullivan.

The unprecedented conditions in the national conventions have been matched in the past fortnight by unprecedented sentiments among the voters of Denver, and if similar sentiments prevail throughout the country in anything like the same degree, it may safely be said that party lines count for less this year than they have counted at any time within the memory of voters now living. The number of persons that expect to vote no party ticket at the primaries of the candidates nominated is very much less than usual, and the average voter in Denver who would express his first, second and third choice for president would not choose the three from the same party.

Same Conditions Throughout State.

In a city where an independent third party recently cast a larger number of votes than the two old parties put together it is not surprising that these conditions should exist in national politics. The same conditions are in evidence throughout the state, and in greater or less measure in all the states, and they were unmistakably apparent in both the great national conventions. The spectacle of Taft, Roosevelt, Cummins and La Follette appearing as candidates before the same convention was surpassed in the Democratic convention, where the names of Harmon, Bryan, Underwood, Clark and Wilson were voted for at the same time by the same convention.

To an unusual degree there is at the present time not merely an independence of party lines, but also an uncertainty as to candidates. The voters not feeling bound to vote for the nominee of any particular party expect to take the opportunity to make their minds about how they are going to vote, and they are not, as a rule, committed to the advocacy of particular candidates. The prospective candidates of all parties feel this uncertainty of the public mind, and have been slow to declare themselves or to take a definite position upon political matters. The uncertainties of the national conventions and the violence of the controversies that have been aroused in them have had a paralyzing effect upon state and local politics, and the word all along the line has been, "Wait until we see what they do at Baltimore."

Unusual Independence of Thought.

It is evident, however, that there is not only an unusual independence of thought among the voters, but that there is more than the usual number of factional differences and distinctions. There are, for instance, in Denver today not less than three separate varieties of Roosevelt Republicans, without counting the differences. There are the Republicans who were for Roosevelt when he was a candidate before the national convention and who would still be glad to vote for him if they could do so on the Republican ticket; there are the Roosevelt Republicans who were for Roosevelt first, last and all the time, and who stoutly maintain that he ought to have an electoral ticket in the field in every state, regardless of anything that has been or may be done by either the Democrats or the Republicans; and thirdly, there are the Roosevelt Republicans who believe that the ends they seek could be better served by voting for a progressive Democrat rather than for a candidate of a third party, even Roosevelt himself. With the majority of Progressive Republicans, however, the suggestion to turn to the Democrats for a standard bearer does not meet with favor. While it is true that the differences that divide progressive Democrats from Progressive Republicans are less than those that separate progressive reactionaries in either party, there are important matters of national policy in which former Republicans will not readily accept the doctrines of Democrats. This is true of several important matters affecting the relations between the federal government and the states, it is true of the tariff, and it is especially true of foreign affairs. The refusal of the Democratic house to provide for the usual annual increase of battleships and the repeated declarations of the Democratic party with relation to the Philippines are notable examples of the progressive Republican votes for the Democratic candidate, however enlightened they may be otherwise.

Events May Move Rapidly.

The general belief is that political events will move very quickly within the next few days, and that they will be a very prompt decision concerning candidates and policies by Democrats, Republicans and independent Progressives. A meeting was held at St. Louis last evening of the Roosevelt Progressives, and it is understood that this is preliminary to a general conference which is to be held in Colorado Springs next week. As a preliminary step for the campaign the "Progressive" party (without the word Republican) has been incorporated; its sponsors named being Judge Ben Lindsey, E. P. Costigan and Philip Van Cise, while the directors besides the three named are Daniel M. Sullivan, L. S. Temple and D. C. Burns of Denver, P. B. Stewart of Colorado Springs, Ira M. DeLong of Boulder, R. W. McClintock of Pueblo, J. H. Jones of Faunk and C. E. Fisher of Sterling.

The amount of support that the new party draws from Democrats will depend very much upon the concessions reached at Baltimore, but without regard to the decisions of that convention or their effect upon the voters, the Progressive party will enter the campaign with a definite purpose and the earnest conviction that it will have a permanent place in American politics. The purpose of the new party, as its leaders express it, is not against individuals, but against a system; it is not to defeat any particular political organization, but to reform conditions that have become intolerable and that work in practice to defeat the main purpose of American institutions. The purpose of political parties, they say,

WOMEN'S CLUB WORK

VIII IN MUSIC

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

The musical standards of the General Federation of Women's clubs always have been of the highest and the work under its music committee has had no small influence in elevating the musical standards of the nation. A feature of the program of the Biennial convention at San Francisco will be the work of the musical committee. This consists of a brilliant musical entertainment which will be given in the theater building of the University of California at Berkeley, as a part of the entertainment, while the Biennial is being entertained there. The plan consists of a musical pageant representing the evolution of music since the year 1400.

The musical members of the General Federation are in a way affiliated with the National Federation of Musical clubs which is modeled closely upon the line of the larger organization, although the organizations are separate and distinct. Both are active in promoting interest in a distinctly American music and in securing a higher standard of musical taste by placing really good music within reach of all classes of people. The General Federation has under its control a number of musical scholarships which provide for advanced musical education at the best musical centers of the country and the establishment of a foreign scholarship to be awarded by competitive examination, similar to that of the English scholarship in London, to the American girl giving best evidence of musical ability. The plans for this scholarship are not yet fully matured, but it will be discussed at the present Biennial and steps taken to secure the necessary funds through the musical clubs of the different states.

Prizes Foster Competition.

A number of prizes for original musical compositions have been awarded by the federated club women of the country and competitions for prizes for an orchestral work and symphony are now open. The first prize is $50, and the second $300. There are three students prizes and one of $50 for the best cantata for women's voices. This competition will close September 1 and no manuscripts will be received after August 1. During the past year $2,000 has been raised and appropriated for prizes for original composition by the federated musical clubs. The competitions are open only to native Americans.

Memphis, Tenn., has been the center of much musical activity largely through the efforts of Mrs. Napoleon Hill who built a handsome women's club house and has been on the board of managers of the National Federation of Musical clubs since its organization and which still makes Memphis its headquarters. There are several musical clubs in Memphis which are leading in the musical activities of the country.

A systematic program for seven years' work has lately been issued for the benefit of the clubs which will undertake serious and systematic musical study. It is so arranged that any year's work may be taken singly if desired. During the first year one day's program is devoted to the demonstration of each of the following subjects: harmony, music history, the development of music, the elements of musical composition, the 60 LICENSES IN JUNE

According to the record book at the city clerk's office, 60 marriage licenses were issued in Colorado during June. The number of marriages shows a considerable falling off compared with June, 1911, when 100 licenses were issued.

The following names were issued yesterday to the following: Joseph A. Barwise, 27, Boulder; Evelyn Baker, 27, Wichita, Kan.; Anna A. Tully and Alma Lea Myrick, both of Denver; David H. Lacey, 23, and Anna Clifford, 20, both of Colorado City; and Marion R. Kirkwood, 21, and Mary M. Moore, 20, both of Colorado Springs.

GREAT NUMBERS ARE VICTIMS OF MODERN AILMENT

Strenuous Living in Cities Responsible for Nervous Debility.

"TONA VITA" OFFERS NEW LIFE

Thousands Are Using This Remedy With Gratifying Results.

The hustle and worry and strain of modern life has produced a modern ailment. This modern ailment is nervous debility and during the past ten years it has swept over the country like wildfire.

Today a large percentage of the population, particularly city dwellers, are afflicted with nervous debility or a "run-down" condition as it is called.

The chief symptoms of this modern complaint are lack of vitality and energy; nervousness and stomach trouble; weak back; poor circulation; constipation and insomnia.

Old-fashioned remedies failing, a modern tonic was introduced in Europe to overcome this trouble. The medicine was an instantaneous success and a similar tonic is now meeting with tremendous success in this country.

The tonic is called Tona Vita, and it builds up run-down people in a few weeks time.

Are you a victim of this miserable run-down, half-sick, tired-all-the-time condition? Are you nervous and despondent? Do you lack energy and ambition? If so, you have nervous debility and the wisest possible thing you can do is to let Tona Vita build you up and bring back your health and strength as it has done for thousands of others. You will be astonished how quickly this great modern tonic will make you feel as though made over.

Lee's Rhubarb Laxative, the assistant company, is used in cases of chronic constipation. Rhubarb is the finest of all natural laxatives. Other drugs strain and weaken the intestines, Rhubarb strengthens them. Lee's Rhubarb Laxative is an ideal family medicine and should be given to children in preference to all others. The taste is pleasant.

Robinson Drug Co. have the agency for these two great medicines in Colorado Springs and will refund your money if you are not completely satisfied with them.

closed up as far as possible. The work of the coming year will be discussed, and the report of the committee, which has the awarding of the big banner in charge, will be heard. The banner was carried by the county association to the school having the largest delegation in attendance at the convention.

The Rev. R. R. Adams, state president of the Sunday school association, will make the presentation to the winning school.

After the business meeting, refreshments will be served and a social evening will follow.

REGULAR TROOPS HERE;

TO LEAVE THIS MORNING

Under command of Colonel Miller, nearly 1,000 United States troops from Fort Russell reached Colorado Springs yesterday from Palmer Lake, on the 1,000-mile march. The command has been brought up to war strength, and the march is being made under orders from the war department to test out the organization of the war strength battalion and regiment.

The command camped over night at Roswell park and will leave at 6 o'clock this morning, the camp outfit and supplies being packed on 550 mules. There is not a single wagon or ambulance with the troops. The soldiers will reach Canon City July 4, where they will be entertained before starting on the return march to Fort Russell. Lieutenant Newbold, who is with the command, is a brother of T. R. Newbold, 108 East San Rafael street. He was entertained at the latter's home during the stay of the command in Colorado Springs.

For soreness of the muscles, whether induced by violent exercise or injury, there is nothing better than Chamberlain's Liniment. This liniment also relieves rheumatic pains. For sale by all dealers.

MUCH BUSINESS IS UP

BEFORE THE MINISTERS

Steps are being taken by the Ministerial association to secure Billy Sunday, the famous evangelist, to conduct a series of meetings in Colorado Springs in the near future, and to have Sunday sermons in connection with the band concerts at Stratton park. The ministers discussed both propositions at their meeting in the Y. M. C. A. yesterday. They also discussed and objected unanimously to the proposed opening of local moving picture shows on Sunday. The committee appointed to draw up resolutions of protest is composed of the Rev. E. Bennett, J. T. Ewart, J. P. Hutchinson and Adam W. Moore. They will speak present a formal signed protest to the city council.

In regard to the Sunday evening sermons at Stratton park in connection with the band concerts, the following committee was appointed to make arrangements: The Rev. Samuel Garvin, W. W. Ranney and W. H. Wilson.

It was decided to hold the annual picnic of the association at Mt. Manitou, Monday, July 15, and elaborate arrangements are being made for the outing.

The pastor of each church represented in the association will appoint a committee of three to make the necessary preparations for the big home missionary rally to be held at this time in the interests of the mission rallies which are to be held in every part of the country this fall. The association decided to cooperate with Dr. J. H. Alexander of New York, secretary of the boys department of the Men and Religion Forward movement. He is to be in this city, July 12, for a series of meetings.
